Knowing your interest in health care, I wanted to inform you that over 10,000 people came to the U.S. Capitol today to express their opposition to Speaker Pelosi's health care bill . These visitors were able to walk the halls of Congress and share their views on the health care bill with their representatives. I and many of my Republican colleagues joined them for a rally on the steps of the Capitol, and I met several of the Californians who were in DC to oppose the bill, including Robin Flores of Chico (pictured left). I am glad to see the American people expressing their opposition to the government takeover of health care, and I will continue to oppose Speaker Pelosi's health care legislation.
