I want to let you know that next week the House Ways & Means Committee, on which I serve, will hold a hearing to examine the impact ObamaCare will have on the U.S. economy and employers' ability to hire new workers and retain existing employees. The new health care law includes $500 billion in tax increases, as well as increasingly restrictive and burdensome mandates upon employers. Across our nation, small business owners have shared their concerns that it will threaten their ability to maintain their current workforce, let alone invest in their companies and create more jobs in the future. I invite you to share your thoughts regarding the impact that the new health care law will have on North State businesses and jobs. Your input is essential as the House moves forward in shaping the policies we need to put America back on the path to prosperity.
